RE: Smart Solutions

EcoTraining has been using the services of Smart Solutions for a number of years for all our first aid training needs. Andrew Miller and his team have, for all these years, provided a phenomenal service to EcoTraining. The training provided by Andrew makes out part of our Professional One Year Field Guide course, and many of our students find this module presented by Andrew to be one of the highlights of their year course.

Andrew provides training that is unique and very dynamic and his training comes at a very high standard. We dread to see the day that Andrew steps down and we have to find another training provider!

We would highly recommend Andrew to any company out there in need of first aid training!
